Bothered, Bewitched and Bedraggled, Carmel Survives the Crosby

What a week in Carmel! The Crosby came and brought the rain in about the same proportion as the crowds. Throngs braved the downpour to stand around the 18th hole at Pebble Beach on Sunday. On Monday the storm continued, and a gust of wind toppled the wall next door to Jim Marquardt at Mission and Eighth, sending Jim scurrying through a door without waiting to open it. Floyd Adams' photo shows workmen hurrying to remove rubble from the roof. Then on Tuesday Mrs. James M. Trosky's car caught fire following a collision at Junipero and Sixth. Art McEwen was there to record it, and later photographed Mrs. Trosky with her 18-month-old son, Jamie, as she related to fireman James M. Kelsey how she rescued the boy when her car burst into flames.

Feathers . . . From the Shaft

By Harry the Fletcher
No. 40

Our thanks, Bing Crosby, for the rain; we hope next year you'll come again. We love to see you strut your stuff — but Harry, look, enough's enough!

Piute Indians dance to bring the rain; with others, polishing the family car can cause a shower. But you!— you really throw the power — with thunder yet, you burst the dam! Is that the way to bake a clam?

We're surfeited with rain and hail, it's wrecked our plumbing, stymied mail. Okay, you wet the golfing grounds, but over here you're out of bounds.

But, here's the point of what's amiss (your mother must have told you this) — no gentleman, though fond of funning, walks off and leaves the water running.

New Monterey Branch for Security Nat'l Bank

A new Monterey branch of the Security National Bank of Monterey County was voted by the bank's stockholders at their annual meeting held Wednesday, Jan. 15, at the bank's Pacific Grove office.

William A. Burkett, president of Monterey County's only home-owned, independent bank said that the bank's rapid growth required expansion into the Monterey area this year. The bank has opened two new branches during the last two years—one in Carmel and the other in Marina, and its newest branch opening in Seaside in April.

Burkett, former Superintendent of Banks for the State of California, said he has great confidence in the Monterey urban renewal development program and would locate a branch in that area. He said that the bank structure would be of early American style in keeping with the style of the bank's other offices.

The American Banker recently reported the Security National as making the most phenomenal growth of any bank of its size in the United States. The 75-year-old institution is known locally for its gas-light, Victorian architecture and as the only bank that remains open on Saturday mornings and maintains the unique banking hours of 8:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. daily.

President William A. Burkett of the Security National Bank of Monterey County gives figures, 'to help prove' he writes, 'that independent banks can survive in competition with chain banks.

Science Problem Group To Meet Sat. Morning

The Northern California Committee on Problem Solving in Science (NCCOPSIS) will meet Saturday morning, Feb. 1, at the Carmel Junior High School. This group of outstanding science teachers will come from as far as Santa Rosa and San Luis Obispo. The local members planning the meeting are Albert C. Kolb, of the Carmel Junior High and Bruce Henderson of Pacific Grove High School.

The program will start at 9:30 a.m. and will be welcomed by Mr. Medil Bair, Dist. Superintendent.

Dr. Walter Klas, Principal of Carmel Junior High School, will discuss with the group the unique class scheduling used at his school. The method devised by Dr. Klas, is attracting state wide interest as it permits more flexibility in science class activities including field trips up to an hour and one half in length.

Mrs. Silvia O. Subtirelu to Lecture Tomorrow Night

Mr. Kolb and Mr. Henderson plan that the group will next consider itself as a part of a Carmel Junior High science class and take a field trip conducted by Mr. Kolb.

NCCOPSIS was formed nine years ago by a group of science teachers who were unhappy with the methods of teaching science then in use in our schools. The work of this group has attracted world wide attention. Members of NCCOPSIS have been active in shaping new curricula for our schools. They were among the writers of the new BSCS Biology, PSSC Physics, Chemistry Study and other new curricula being used in our schools today as standard methods.

NCCOPSIS is proud of being asked recently by the Educational Journal of England to have some of its members prepare another article for publication there. Mr. Claire Elmore of Santa Rosa, and Mr. Clyde Parrish of Palo Alto, were asked by Mr. Norman McRae, president of the committee, to do this writing.

Following the field trip a business meeting will be conducted by President Norman McRae of Pleasant Hills, near Concord.

Wall Topples At Mission and Eighth

Plumber James Marquardt had come home for lunch last Monday. He was a little later than usual. Chappie, his dog was outside and Jim had just made himself a sandwich and was drinking a glass of grape juice. It was 1:15.

The dog came to the door and wanted to be let in. As Jim stepped to the door he heard a popping and felt the earth shake. He dove through the screen without waiting to open it and was just in time.

Several tons of uncompleted block wall toppled onto the house, blown over by a gust of wind in the storm. Plaster fell all through the house, but mostly in the living room. Windows broke and glass flew onto the sidewalk. All through the house the roof began to leak, but most fortunately, Jim escaped injury.

The wall was being built as part of a structure next door to plumber Marquardt at Mission and Eighth.

Carmel Building Inspector Floyd Adams was asked about the occurrence. He said it was most unfortunate that this had happened, adding that the wall was being built, he said, "by a very normal method of construction." The common practice of late, he said, is to build a wall in such a fashion, then pump it full of concrete, thus making the blocks, in effect, no more than a form for a solid concrete wall.

(Plumber Marquardt complained to the PINE CONE in November about the excavation which was made for the new structure. At that time his basement was flooded and the house began to creak and groan, he said, when the foundation was weakened by the excavators.)

Romanian Arts Lecture, Exhibit Tomorrow Night

"Romanian culture in terms of its Arts," a public lecture featuring Romanian folk arts, painting and architecture will be given by Defense Language Institute instructor of Romanian, Mrs. Silvia O. Subtirelu, tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Presidio of Monterey Chapel Annex.

Mrs. Subtirelu will augment her discussion of the arts with 100 slides picturing Romanian costumes, household manufactured goods and Romanian churches and monasteries. In addition, slides of paintings by some of Romania's greatest artists are included in the program.

On display in the Chapel Annex will be many of the actual products of Romanian culture.

A talented artist herself, Mrs. Subtirelu will also show some of her own painting.

While in Romania she took her bachelor's degree from the Girls' Lyceum Alba Iulia, Alba Iulia-Romania and took art lessons from the famous contemporary Romainian artists, Bancila Octav and Steriade Jean.

In 1962 she became a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education and taught art in the Los Angeles area until March, 1963, when she joined the Defense Language Institute's teaching staff at the Presidio of Monterey.

Visiting star Gregory Peck chats with (left) H. William Monroe and (right) Colden Whitman, following the American Cancer Society Crusade luncheon held last week at the Mark Thomas. Dr. James A. Mattison Re-Elected President of American Cancer Society of Monterey County

Monterey County officers of the American Cancer Society re-elected to office are: Dr. James A. Mattison of Salinas, president; Dr. F. Hilton Smith of Salinas, 1st vice president; Mrs. Gloria Souther of Monterey, 2nd vice president and Stanley E. Ewig of Carmel, treasurer.

The American Cancer Society "kicked off" its yearly appeal Tues., Jan. 14 with an all day series of meetings at the Mark Thomas Hotel and a luncheon that was exciting (especially to the ladies among the 100 guests) as it was informative.

The honor guest of the affair, Gregory Peck, was introduced by Dr. J. A. Mattison, Jr., of Salinas, president of the Monterey County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Mr. Peck, who has consented to act as 1964 Crusade chairman for the state of California, was met at the Monterey airport, upon his arrival from Hollywood, by a group headed by Mrs. Gloria Souther of Monterey and Robert Colton, fund chairman of the 1964 Crusade for the State of California.

Entirely free of histrionics, humorous at times, but deadly serious in his address about his volunteer job, Mr. Peck reviewed the list of world known Hollywood figures (his personal friends) who have been victims of cancer fatalities. "Charles Laughton, Gary Cooper, Jack Carson, Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart and Dick Powell—they were all friends, close friends of mine," Mr. Peck said, "and the tragedy is that, had they recognized the symptoms, so widely publicized today, and acted early, they might have been saved.

"Added to the Society's slogan 'Save a Life' is a new and compelling challenge to us all, 'Tell Your Neighbor'"!

Asked what he, as an individual would do, Mr. Peck replied, "I will beat the drum, I'll appear in short films for nationwide distribution; I'll do most anything that will help. Above all I'll tell anyone who will even half listen, 'Learn all you can abou the causes and the early symptoms of cancer. Consult your doctor, at once, don't wait, and then follow his advice.'"

The money raised by the American Cancer Crusade appeal will go for the spreading of information to everyone; for research and for aid to those afflicted . . . Tell your neighbor, beat the drum, help wipe this scourge from the face of the earth."

Following a second session, this time in his hotel suite, with press and radio interviewers, Mr. Peck attended afternoon meetings of the local Crusade volunteer workers deep in preparation for the intensive appeal which will be made in April. He returned to Hollywood on Tuesday night.

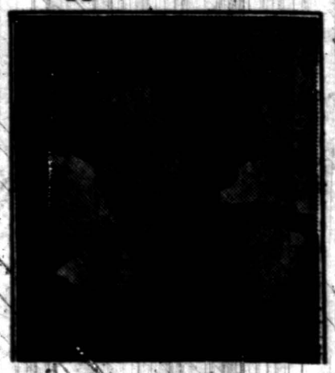
Nan Merriman, Mezzo, to Appear in Concert



Acknowledged as one of the greatest of present day singers, Nan Merriman will star with the Monterey County Symphony in performances of Mahler's "Songs of the Earth" at its Feb. 4 concert.

A protege of the late Arturo Toscanini, Nan Merriman has won the acclaim of American and European audiences alike for her vocal artistry. Critics here and abroad have acclaimed her as "One of the greatest singers of our time" (Het Parool, Amsterdam); "A powerful, brilliant voice" (New York Herald Tribune); "Perfection" (L'Unita, Milan); "Wonderful . . . sublime" (Chicago American); and "One of the great voices of our time" (El Paso Times).

Mrs. Merriman's rise to stardom began when as a young, unknown singer she made one 15-minute appearance on a "completely unimportant" broadcast, and got a break in a billion. Arturo Toscanini, then looking for a mezzo for an all Verdi program, heard the broadcast, traced her and commanded an audition. The happy result: Toscanini's seal of approval and twelve appearances with the maestro and the NBC Symphony both in broadcasts and RCA Victor recordings.

After such an auspicious beginning, Miss Merriman rapidly became the "requested" soloist of the world's principal conductors, among them Leopold Stokowski, Bruno Walter, Pierre Monteux, Fritz Reiner, Sir Thomas Beecham, Eugene Ormandy, Artur Rodzinski and many more. When Leonard Bernstein recorded his own "Jeremiah" Symphony he picked Nan Merriman as his soloist, and Herbert von Karajan was equally adamant about having her sing Dorabella in his famous Angel recording of Mozart's "Cosi fan tutte."

With such overwhelming conductor recognition came the choicest plums from musical centers all over the world, and the name of Nan Merriman became an attraction in such musical centers as Glyndebourne, Edinburgh, Paris, Vienna, London, Munich, Aix-en-Provence, Milan's La Scala, Lisbon, Madrid, the Deauville and Santander Festivals and at home in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Dallas, Chicago and many other musically important cities.

Tickets for the Carmel Concert are at a premium and Symphony officials have asked that season ticket holders who will be unable to attend to turn in their tickets for resale. For further ticket information call Symphony Headquarters 624-4125.

● Carmel-to-Europe, for just a bit over two weeks, is really a speedy trip, but the Wilfred Van Lobens Seis are just the pair to take it all as a fortnight's celebration. Following their daughter Judy's wedding and reception in Geneva next Tuesday they will visit Rome, Madrid, Lisbon and London, getting home just in time to host a wedding reception for Dorothy Wolff and Peter Becker, who will be married on Feb. 14.

Greetings to Carmel from Artist Adrian Beach

Carmelites, who date their residence two decades back, will remember the young English artist whose showing of his contemporary canvasses in the Art Association caused a furor and won front page attention in newspapers across the country. Adrian Beach was the artist and the controversial painting "Adam's Broth" was considered, by the local gallery committee 'obscene'"!

Mr. Beach went off to England in '42, his independent spirit only faintly bruised by local frowns. He was interned during World War II in England, because of his pacifistic views. But his courage remained undaunted and his great talent as a painter continued to grow.

Ten years later, in 1952, Adrian Beach's letter to Marie Short was reprinted in the Pine Cone. He reported showings of his paintings in London't major galleries.

Yesterday we received a beautiful and original Christmas card from Mr. Beach. He sends his affectionate greetings to those who remember. His subscription to The Pine Cone has continued, without break through 23 years, so, as we know he will read this issue, we return warm greetings and hope, Adrian Beach, that you will write us a letter, with news of yourself, of your home in Surrey, and your activities. Yes, we do remember!

Woolfenden on Stanford Campus in Stuttgart

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Woolfenden of Carmel Valley have had their first letter from son Jim now at Stanford Univ. in Stuttgart, Germany.

Jim was one of the 73 Stanford students who left the Palo Alto campus on Jan. 3 for six months study in Germany. The group, including 43 men and 30 women students will be the 12th to attend Stanford in Stuttgart. Their courses will include political science, medieval and renaissance literature with special emphasis on German intellectual history; German political thought, with special emphasis on 19th century thought, and intensive courses in the German language.

Jim graduated from Carmel High School in June, 1960. So that his friends may keep track of his life in Germany, Mrs. Woolfenden promises the Pine Cone reports and excerpts from his letters to the family.

The Sur Coast

By ELIZABETH FULLER JONES

A painting and sculpture show opened last week-end at Big Sur Hot Springs, will continue until Feb. 9. The works are those of Big Sur artists Ron Boise, sculpture, and Roland Hall, painting. The sculpture of Mr. Boise is that of ransforming discarded, old automobiles into works of art. For some time, at the Hot Springs, there has been a problem of what to do with a collection of abandoned cars. Boise, who has had considerable experience in changing cast off cars into handsome works of art in such areas as Baja California, Southern California and on an island in the Caribbean, has over two dozen metal sculptures in the current show.

Roland Hall's group of paintings, together with Mr. Boise' sculpture were formally presented at a reception for the artists last Sunday afternoon. The artists and the show were introduced by Alan Watts, who was in Big Sur conducting a seminar entitled Time and Anxiety held at the Coast Gallery and the Hot Springs resort.

Loet Van Der Veen well-known Big Sur artist, potter, ceramist, has recently received an architectural commission from the firm of Smith, Powell, Morgridge, A.I.A., of Los Angeles for a ceramic wall and glass screen for a non-denominational church designed for "Leisure World," a retirement community in the Los Angeles area. Mr. Van der Veen, who had his first West Coast show at the Coast Gallery in Big Sur in 1961 (soon after he came to the Sur Country from New York), not long ago completed a group of ceramic and stained glass windows for the First Hebrew Congregation in Salinas.

In speaking of his ceramics, shown last year at the M. H. deYoung Memorial Museum in San Francisco, Mr. Van der Veen, says, "My work is created where I live, in the isolation of Big Sur—yet truly speaking, isolation here merely means neighbors living out of sight. What is in sight are the products of earth, sky and sea, and from these vegetative forms, textures and movements in growth, come my sources of inspirational 'push.' Trunks of sycamore cored by lacy rot of time—resembling cathedral shells. The seed pods of poppy and scented eucalyptus, stylized units of perfection, delights in design and functional utility—sea forms, wind and wave patterns are seen, felt, translated and offered to the viewer by me in my work in a sharing sense of what I hope will be a commonly felt love. Out of these same basic elements, the air, earth and water, grow the reality of my ceramics."

A joint meeting of the members of the three coastal advisory committees to the Monterey County Planning Commission, was held on Tuesday evening, in the Big Sur Grange Hall. This is the first time the three committees have met in one meeting to discuss matters concerning the South Coast Scenic Area Zoning, the Coast Master Plan and other questions relating to the area. Members of the Highlands-Bixby Advisory Committee, the Big Sur Advisory Committee and the South Coast Advisory Committee were present to hear the principal speaker of the evening, Mr. Robert Slimmon of the Monterey County Planning Commission.

A board of directors meeting of the newly formed Coast Property Owners Association was held last Monday evening for the purpose of further work on the By-Laws for the new group. The Association now numbers forty members. Property owners from Malpaso Creek to the San Luis Obispo County Line wishing to become members of the Association may contact Secretary, Mrs. Esther Ewoldsen or Treasurer, Mrs. Marjorie Johnson of Big Sur. In the proposed By-Laws, which are to be presented to the membership for approval, at a date to be announced, it is stated that "the purpose of the Association shall be to protect and defend the rural, residential and recreational character and the natural and esthetic beauty of the Coastal area . . . to provide for the health, safety and welfare of the members of the area, to encourage community service and otherwise to act in the interests of the residents and property owners of the community." Property owners may apply for an Active (voting) Membership, residents of the area may apply for an Associate (non-voting) membership.

Notice of refund and rate reductions for PG&E customers

In February we shall start distributing to our customers gas and electric refunds totaling more than $44,000,000 (this is in addition to the 1963 refund of approximately $15,000,000). These refunds came to PG&E from the El Paso Natural Gas Company, one of our major gas suppliers, and we are passing them on to you.

In addition, PG&E customers will receive reductions in gas and electric rates amounting to $7 million per year.

$35 MILLION GAS REFUND

PG&E residential customers and many commercial customers of record during December, 1963, will receive a refund in the form of a credit on their February bills. The average householder will receive a $9 to $10 refund based on gas used during September through December, 1963, billing periods. Large commercial customers and all industrial customers will receive refund checks or credits in April based on the amount of natural gas used during the period covered by the refund.

GAS RATE REDUCTIONS

A new $2.7 million gas rate reduction became effective December 30, 1963. This is the second gas rate reduction within 12 months—together they save the average householder $1.80 a year.

$9 MILLION ELECTRIC REFUND

During March, refunds will be distributed to PG&E electric customers. The average householder will receive a $1.20 refund credit on his March bill. Electric customers are benefiting from the gas refunds because of the large amount of natural gas used in our steam-electric generating plants.

ELECTRIC RATE REDUCTIONS

Early in 1964 PG&E proposes rate reductions of about $4.3 million, of which $2.5 million would be in lower rates for some 400,000 customers in areas where increased customer density has lowered unit costs of providing service. Also, large industrial power users will receive a $1.8 million rate adjustment to meet competitive conditions.

These benefits for PG&E customers result in large part from a refund and a wholesale gas rate reduction we received from the El Paso Natural Gas Company, climaxing litigation initiated by PG&E nine years ago. PG&E filed the original protest against El Paso wholesale gas rate increases in October 1954 and was soon joined by the California Public Utilities Commission and other utilities in pressing for the gas refunds and rate reductions recently received.

Carmel Recreation Commission Disbanded

The members of the Board of Education, Carmel Unified School District, at their Jan. 15 meeting, voted to disband the Carmel Recreation Commission. The reason being that the school board must make the final decisions in policy. An official vote of thanks from the board to the members of the commission, Mr. Maynard Petersen, chairman, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Roderick Wilson, Mr. Clayton Niell, and recreation director for the district, Mr. William Wakefield, for giving so freely of their time and effort.

A minor change in the elementary school bus route in Pebble Beach was unanimously approved. It will save about a dozen elementary children a hazardous walk along Ronda Road between Viacaino and Cortez. But when the group of parents from Pebble Beach, whose spokesman was Mr. Nick LaSorella, tried to have other changes made in the route, board members and parents clashed. The board agreed that the transportation may deviate a little from the present routes as deemed advisable. They will bring their recommendations on the changes to the board for approval.

Teacher's Salaries

The Association of Carmel Teachers placed in the board's hands a set of proposals for next year's teaching salaries. However, the teacher's group requested that talks about the new schedule be delayed until the next board meeting on Jan. 29, as they needed more time to study the matter. On a split vote the motion carried to defer discussion until the next meeting.

C. M. Goethe Is For The Birds

The following letter came to us from C. M. Goethe of Sacramento. Even tho we don't know too much about birds, we found it most intriguing. We quote:

"The Cemetery of the Cats at Sakkaret, Egypt, contained many mummies of both cats and of ibis. The ibis is shown on Egyptian monuments as Thout. This God has man's clothing, including a lion's tail at his coattail as a symbol of Might. His left hand holds a tablet. On this he writes. His head is not human, but of an ibis, even to its bill curved like a curlew's.

"After a young bird student has learned to identify his common birds, he will commence to notice the wonders of bird anatomy. One of these is bill adaption. The sparrow and finch tribe has the stubby seed crusher. The spoonbill's very name suggests an evolution toward food getting as that organ moves, like a scythe in yesteryear's harvest, systematically to gain shrimps and other nutrition in the muddy waters of Everglades National Park's 'keyes.'

"Note also the woodpecker's efficient chisel as he makes a hole in a dead snag in which he next will stuff an acorn against future hunger. The pelican has a fishnet at its lower beak. The cormorant has a fishhook at the end of its upper bill. The fisheating mergansers have a sawlike bill to hold slippery-scaled prey. Other ducks have a specialized bill for food getting in pond mud.

"The hummingbird's needle is evolved for flowers. The eagles for its predator food gathering.

It's fun to study bird bills.'

(Signed) C. M. Goethe

The Army Sends News of Dick Rees

Second Lt. Richard S. Rees, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger S. Rees of So. Carmel Hills has completed a nine-week officer orientation course at the Army Armor Center, Fort Knox, Ky.

During the course Lieutenant Rees received instruction in the duties and responsibilities of a newly commissioned armor officer.

Sen. Fred S. Farr To Discuss Calif. Future

State Senator Fred S. Farr (Dem., Carmel) will join with other California civic, professional and business leaders next Monday and Tuesday in the Hotel El Rancho in Sacramento for a two-day conference designed to organize a long-range attack on major problems facing the State in the coming decades.

The conference, "Man in California: 1980's," will undertake a comprehensive survey of what the California environment will be twenty years from now—and what actions must be taken to ensure that the environment will be beneficial to the State's estimated 25-30 million citizens.

Primary attention will be given to the State's swiftly growing and increasingly urbanized population and its impact on land, water and air resources, employment, transportation, agriculture and recreation. Some of the topics the conference will confront are land use and misuse; the quantity and quality of water for domestic, agricultural, industrial and recreational needs; urban air pollution; and the costs of planning for the development and preservation of major resources.

Farr is a member of the 'Committee of Fifty," a group of businessmen, educators, scientists and civic leaders responsible for organizing the conference. The committee's work is supported by the Governor's office, major California industrial organizations and University of California Extension.

The conference will be held at the Hotel El Rancho in Sacramento.

Carmel Realtors Elect Bion Burchell President

Bion Burchell was installed as president of the Carmel Board of Realtors for 1964 at a dinner meeting held at the Mission Ranch last Wednesday. Installed as vice-president was George Conn. Virginia Streeton as secretary and Jack Martin as treasurer.

Coast Counties Land Title Company, Title Insurance and Trust Company and Western Title Guaranty Company were hosts to the board members at a pre dinner cocktail hour.

Ethlyn Brown of Salinas, vice-president of the Tenth District of the California Real Estate Association, installed the officers.

William Farmer, retiring president of the Carmel Board, announced that the multiple listing service, operated by the Carmel Board, sold nearly $2,500,000 worth of property through its members in 1963. "It is interesting to note that the average house sale was $30,462, and the average unimproved lot sale was $3847," he said.

Installed at the same meeting as directors of the board were Mr. Farmer, Lois Renk, Wesley Ball and Malcolm Foster. George Conn will serve in the double capacity of director and board vice president.

De Neale Morgan Exhibit At Neighborhood Center

An exhibition of paintings by M. De Neale Morgan, pioneer Carmel painter, will open the first of a series of showings by professional artists on Wednesday, January 22 at the Neigbhorhood Center, Lighthouse and Dickenson, New Monterey, continuing for a month.

The senior art classes at the Center, with Si Ostermeier, art teacher, daytime drawing and painting; also Pat Carey, portrait teacher, evening classes under Monterey Recreation Department. "Art Day" at the Center is Wednesday beginning at 10 a.m., with morning, afternoon and evening classes.

Mrs. Nelson Miles Leoni, Madelaine, daughter of Frank Powers, one of the founders of Carmel-by-the-Sea, choose a De Neale Morgan cypress painting in memory of her father, to present to the sister city of Carmel, Petra, birthplace of Father Junipero Serra, during the celebration of the 25th anniversary of his birth. Carried by plane by Mayor Eben Whittlesey of Carmel and presnted to the Mayor of Petra this past summer at the time of the festivities.

De Neale Morgan Was A Pioneer Painter Here

By Jeanie Morgan Kienke

M. De Neale Morgan was born May 24, 1868, in San Francisco, and died October 10, 1948 in Carmel. She spent her early girlhood and attended schools in Oakland, where her father, Thomas Wolfe Morgan, was City Engineer from 1872 to 1893.

DeNeale Morgan studied painting at the San Francisco School of Design under Virgil Williams, Emil Carlsen, Amadee Joullin and Arthur Matthews. Through the years she also had the privilege of private training with the "old master of California" William Keith in Berkeley and in his San Francisco studio.

The families of William Keith, Professor Joseph Le Conte, and Gompertz of Berkeley, and the Thomas Morgans of Oakland were life-long friends of De Neale. Later in Carmel she worked with the William M. Chase group.

Among the students of her art school years were Evelyn McCormick, Kate Carew (noted London cartoonist), Louise Carpenter, Jimmie Swinnerton, Xavier Martinez.

DeNeale had her first studio in Oakland in 1896. Her first exhibition was at Hahn Gallery at 14th and Broadway in Oakland in 1907, from which William Keith purchased one of her paintings showing Pacific Grove shore line, a group of low, white red-roofed cottages among tall pines looking out over the bay.

A group of Bay Region painters founded the Oakland Sketch Club, meeting first in DeNeale's studio on 19th Sstreet to sketch from models. One of these, Jack London, then attending Oakland High School, was a classmate of her brother, Tom Morgan.

De Neale Morgan first visited Carmel in 1903 with members of the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association, spending a month at the old Pine Inn. She returned to Carmel the following year to set up her workshop in a cottage on Monte Verde Street, then the edge of the woods.

In 1910 she came into possession of the first art studio in Carmel, built for Sydney York, water colorist, on Lincoln Street near 7th Avenue, which was her home and studio until her death at the age of 80 years. The studio and home is now maintained by her sister, Jeanie Morgan Kienke, since 1940, when she came from Hollywood to live permanently in Carmel. She was one of the founding members of the Carmel Art Association holding annual exhibitions of the works of local artists. In 1913 the club sponsored a School of Arts and Crafts of which De Neale Morgan was the director for seven years. Local and visiting artists served on the faculty, culminating with William M. Chase and his assistant, Charles P. Townsley, in 1914 and 1915.

M. De Neale Morgan

De Neale Morgan's paintings have been shown in many leading art centers of America, including New York, Brooklyn, Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Laguna Beach, Pasadena, Oakland, and Palo Alto.

The Carmel Art Association was an outgrowth of the Arts and Crafts Club established in the club house on the site of the present Golden Bough Theatre.

Among her treasured newspaper clippings were those from the Carmel Pine Cone, Oct. 15, 1948; an article by R. Ellis Roberts in The Californian, April 14, 1937; Touring Topics AAA Magazine; Dungan in the Oakland Tribune; The Christian Science Monitor, May 3, 1926; and the Oakland Tribune of Dec. 5, 1926.

The Patrick Fitzpatricks Make Mark in the Islands

● Michael Gould sends us the following item from the Honolulu Sunday Star-Bulletin (Jan. 19):

"And via Monterey we hear of the Patrick Fitzpatricks, who now live in Honolulu. The story said that a number of Mr. F's sculptures have been sold both on Oahu and Maui. And among the purchasers is Peggy Porter-Marguard Hartman, a former Carmel Valleyite, who now owns and operates a smart shop in old Lahaina.

Some of Pat's work has been used in the Royal Lahaina Hotel as well as in Honolulu's Cinerama Theatre facade. He's associated with Ray Shaw, architect. Meanwhile, Mrs. Fitzpatrick is gaining recognition for her water colors.

A NEW BOOK
BY A CARMEL AUTHOR

Reformation And The Reformers
BY ERNEST S. CROSBY

A lay author writing for other laymen has approached his subject more as a journalist with an assignment for the general reader than as a historian writing a scholarly text. With great clarity of style and interpretation, his account is easily readable. Included is a very adequate background, sketches of the leading and also secondary characters, followed by a fast-paced narrative and conclusion clearly relating his story to the present life of the Churches.

UNATTAINABLE GIFT

As olive trees to stars on winter nights,
I kneel to you, distant and silver.
Some worship Venus — others sacrifice
To Mars. But to you, I am faithful —
Vega, brightest star of Lyra.
You do not know me. Yet you
Show the timeless way to song.
I think of you, as a woman
Not an orb. Surely you can Understand my striving and folly.
As trees embrace the rising planets,
I hold you and for a brief moment,
Sense the shining glory of your gift
To those who have the genius to be great.

PHOEBE W. HOFFMAN
Carmel Valley.

CUP OF MORNING QUIET

Not a leaf stirs on the tree tops,
Not a bird begins to fly.
The morning star in lonely glory
Fades out of the ambering sky.

Dawn comes slowly through my window,
Temple-hushed this interim.
I drink this cup of morning quiet
And taste its wonder to the brim.

LUCIA TRENT
Austin, Texas.

HONEYMOON LOVE

The way you hitched horses
I can remember
White feathers of snow
In last December.
The way you walked
Through an open door
Stamping your feet
On the hardwood floor.
Your brown woods' talking
In the kitchen stove
That baked my cookies
Spicy with clove.
These are the things
I am conscious of
And the way you smiled at me
With love.

MARY ANN PUTMAN
Seattle, Washington.

AUTUMN CAPRICE

Ragamuffins
Skirt each tree
In hide - and - seek.

Nimble waifs
Turn cartwheels
In wind eddies
Down the hill.

Tattered vagrants
Resting, breath - spent,
On the grass;
For a second —
Motionless . . .

JEAN T. BLINN

FLIGHT

Night swirls down in dark brocade
Of jeweled stars resembling jade.
Covering thin crystals of citadeled fears
With curtains of quiet hushing pale tears.
Sounds are sighing while shadows fly
And flicker wet winds that smoulder
Heathered things winter flings
Over April's bare white shoulder.

MARY ANN PUTMAN
Seattle, Washington.

Villa Montalvo Exhibits Four Types of Art

Villa Montalvo's art galleries will exhibit during Feb. 1 to 29, four different forms of art, including oil paintings by Salt Lake artist William Anderson; wood sculpture of Emily Tihenko of Berkeley; Japanese and European prints by Ryonosuke Fukui; and a display of weaving examples by Irene Brown and her students of Saratoga.

Located near Saratoga, Montalvo is open to the public daily except Mondays, from 1:30 to 4:30.

A special musical program will be offered on Sunday, Feb. 9 at 3 p.m. To be presented in the Carriage House Theatre, the performing artist will be chosen after annual auditions conducted by the music committee. No charge is made for this performance nor for the gallery exhibits.

The paintings of Anderson, or "Monte," which he uses as his brush signature, are new in concept, being neither representational, nor abstract, nor non-objective. Critics say the reality in his work is "dreamed, sensed and spiritualized." He has exhibited recently in Carmel and at Stanford University, and will leave next month for Spain to spend two years to reflect and deepen his work. Mostly self-taught, he received his first training in Mount Pleasant with Max Blain, one of the leading Utah landscape painters.

The weaving display will include completed textiles designed and woven for clothing, decorative fabrics, and rugs and wall hangings of Swedish wool. Mrs. Brown, a former instructor in weaving at Villa Montalvo during her three years as an artist in residence there, is a designer as well as executant, and creates textiles of many types.

Mrs. Tihenko's art in driftwood sculpture is to virtually "bring to life" the images she sees in the pieces of wood gathered along the beaches. Her work has been shown in Carmel, Pebble Beach, San Francisco and variously across the nation.

Fukui graduated from the National University of Art in Tokyo and became the master printmaker of his country. Limited editions of his prints are in the Library of Congress and other American museums and leading public institutions, and he has previously exhibited in California.

One of Those Rare Books You Can't Lay Down

THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD, by John Le Carre, and published by Coward-McCann, New York, and sold locally by The Bookworm, Dolores at Sixth Avenue.

Don't start reading this book unless you are prepared to sit up all night to finish it — it's that kind of a thriller, and if you can guess the ending, you're a better man than I am, or you detest spy stories and hair-raising suspense.

Time Magazine says: A one-time Eton schoolmaster, David Cornwell, 32, who some three years ago joined Her Majesty's Foreign Office "to get into the swim," and writing under an assumed name seems to have told all in one of the best spy stories ever written. Even if John le Carre's book isn't authentic, nobody except another certified spy can be sure; and it has the merit of sounding chillingly true.

Ella Winter, Carmel, Writes Autogiography

Ella Winter's autobiography, AND NOT TO YIELD, is a vivid book full of humor and stories you won't want to miss. Married to two remarkable men, Lincoln Steffens and Donald Ogden Stewart, Ella Winter has successfully combined the roles of wife, mother, and newspapering in many parts of the world.

Kenneth Tynan calls it "an express train through the 20th century with time off at wayside stations."

Bruce Bliven says "Ella Winter . . . has had a press-table seat from which to witness the most far-reaching changes of any six decades in history . . . She tells her story with the cool competence of the veteran reporter."

Katherine Hepburn says "Ella Winter is alive and vibrant and has a green thumb for plants, people, and politics."

Ira Wolfert says "she writes the way bells ring."

For true Carmelites, this autobiography is packed with interest, pictures and reminisences, truly a book to be on every bookshelf in Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula. It is on sale at The Bookworm, Dolores Street near Sixth in Carmel, and was published by Harcourt, Brace, New York.

Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe Christens John Mahoney

John Harrison Mahoney, three-week-old son of the John H. Mahoney's of Walnut Creek and grandson of Mrs. David Stevens (Dorothy Dean) of Pacific Grove, was christened last Sunday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Walnut Creek by the pastor, Rev. Alfred B. Seccombe.

Young John's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Harrison of Warsaw, Indiana, were proxy god-parents for Mr. and Mrs. George Welker of Warsaw, childhood friends of the baby's mother.

It was the Rev. Alfred Seccombe who was then pastor of All Saints Episcopal Church in Carmel who christened the new baby's father, then three weeks old and living in Carmel.

Dorothy and David Stevens spent the weekend with the young Mahoneys, marveling at the handsome baby.

C.H.S. Student Body Rejects Old Constitution

Last week, a special assembly was held at Carmel High School. The purpose of the assembly was to vote on a revision process for our old Constitution. One side of the issue was presented by the two candidates for student body president, Jim Miller and Tom Poulos. The other side was presented by Jeff Wright, candidate for commissioner of traffic control.

Jim Miller said he wanted to "start the process which will lead to a student government which will mean something and which will do something." He said we need to draft a "new and workable Constitution." Jim and Tom's plan was to extend the term of office of the present Student Council members until February 28. At that time, an entirely new Constitution would be presented to the student body for approval.

Jeff Wright was opposed to the above plan. He was in favor of electing the second semester officers last Friday, as had previously been planned. He said the present Constitution was now in effect and required the officers change at the semester. The newly elected officers could then rewrite the Constitution.

The main opposition to the present Constitution is that it is inadequate, outdated, and inefficient. It is maintained that we need a Constitution which will have a real purpose behind it and will give the students more responsibility for their government.

Immediately after the assembly, the student body voted on whether or not they wanted to follow the plan proposed by Jim and Tom. The "yes" votes won by a large majority—85% of the students voted "yes" while 15% voted "no."

The present Constitution is now suspended. A new Constitution will be drafted by the present officers of the Student Council, the candidates for office for the second semester, and a special committee of interested students who will be chosen by Steve Arnon, present student body president. There has been a lot of interest shown by the students; by last week, almost fifty students had volunteered to serve on the revision committee.

SO OUR WINDOWS ARE HEARTS AND FLOWERS!
YOU'LL HAVE TO ADMIT THERE ARE SOME SWEETHEART BUYS THERE!

There's that honey in Rancho Rio Vista, modern as tomorrow, with three bedrooms, two baths, and some of the most interesting features you'll see anywhere for a new low price, just $44,500. Then there's the little beauty with two bedrooms in Paradise Park with the big sundeck and the weather to use it. Great view of Pt. Lobos, too, for the asking price of $28,000. And down by the beach, a really beautiful modern with two fireplaces, three bedrooms, two baths, and a 37 foot living room. You could throw stones at the beach from this one, yet the price is only $49,500. And what about that cute little rock castle on a quarter acre in Pebble Beach with two bedrooms and furnished for just $38,500. Sure, it's small, but have you priced lots alone in this area? Could be an ideal vacation house or hideaway . . . (or love nest?)

BUT WE DON'T TELL EVERYTHING WE KNOW IN THE WINDOW.
WHY DON'T YOU DROP IN AND CHAT WITH US?
YOU'LL FIND US VERY FRIENDLY!

IT'S A MESS!

You never saw a house in worse condition after a tenant! Everything needs painting, hardwood floors need refinishing, yard (small) needs trimming—but even in its present condition it is Carmel charming and the distant owner says we can sell it cheap ($20,500) if we find a buyer before he comes down next week and rolls up his own sleeves to go to work on it. Assets: Nice living room with fireplace and gas kindler, dining room, sunny kitchen with stove and refrigerator, central hall, large bath, roomy bedroom, sun porch for a den or guest bedroom, hardwood floors, LOTS of storage. Plus, on a lower level, plastered garage and huge storage room with concrete floor which could be completed as another bedroom. About 15 years old. 3 blocks from the P.O. and 4 from the beach, but you'll never find it by yourself. If you have at least $5000 cash and a healthy imagination, let us guide you to our paint-bucket special.

IT'S A DOLL!

Our tea-and-crumpets special is a cutie on the bus line, pretty white fireplace, little provincial kitchen with a breakfast nook extending out into an oak tree. Two baths and one and a half (count them) bedrooms. It's tiny, it's very completely furnished, it's immediately available, and it's only $17,950.

IT'S A DREAM!

The west wall is a living mural of the sea in its endlessly fascinating moods (did you see it this week in the storm?) Beautifully restored 2 bedroom, 2 bath home. All Carmel charm retained, but everything else is new and modern. If you're interested in a home on Scenic Drive and the ocean for a neighbor, you should see this one and decide for yourself if it is worth $65,000 to you.

IT'S A FINE FAMILY HOME!

Serene mountain views from all windows to ease tensions, short safe walk to schools for your children in all grades, a very convenient floor plan for Mom and a very convenient $3500 down for Pop's budget. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, breakfast room, family-dining room, den, electric kitchen, hardwood floors, carpets, drapes, shutters—all in A-1 shape. Price $37,500. See it soon. The view of the spring-greening hills alone is worth your time.

Junior High to Present Thurber's "Many Moons"

A play for the delight of children and adults will be presented by the Carmel Jr. High Drama Department on the evenings of Feb. 7 and 8 and for a Sunday matinee Feb. 9. James Thurber's Many Moons is a charming 'tongue in cheek' fantasy about a pretty young Princess, her doting father, and their Jester. Admittedly, the Princess is just a bit spoiled, but her infectious gaiety cheers the court — until the day she falls into a decline that seems destined to take her near death. The entire court puts their heads together in the effort to find what the Princess wants so much the lack of it has made her drastically ill. They are sure it is some form of unusual tarts, but they can't seem to hit on just the right variety. At last the Jester, much to the selfish chagrin of the courtiers and their ambitious wives, finds out what the Princess yearns for. It is really very simple; she only wants the moon. So, the King orders his wise men to get the moon for the Princess Lenore. How they meet this problem, and how the Jester solves it, forms the body of the play. The drama is filled with gentle humor that often hits at one of those thought provoking points for which Mr. Thurber was famous. The dramatization is by Charlotte Chorpening. Seating is limited to 100 for each performance; tickets are .50 for adults, and .25 for those under grade 7.
